What a fascinating life in one so young and what a traveled person - from the East coast to the West coast and back again while raising 2 children. Friends call her "Lucy" for Lucille Ball. She could have made a movie of her exciting life. All attending wanted to hear more – so we will wait patiently for part 2.

The Rotary Leadership Institute (RLI) is a multi-district, grassroots leadership development program of member districts organized into regional divisions in various parts of the world.

RLI is not an official program of Rotary International and is not under its control.

RLI seeks to have Rotary Clubs in its member districts identify those Rotarians who appear to have the potential for future club leadership (not necessarily as club presidents) and provide those so identified with a quality education in Rotary knowledge and leadership skills so important in voluntary organizations.

Costs can range from $65 and up.

Bottom Line: Who were the ten Rotarians honored as Champions of Change on Rotary Day at the White House on April 20?

Answer: Five in this week's Downtowner and the remaining five in the next issue.

- Terrence Allen, a member of the Rotary Club of Lakeshore Michigan who volunteers at the Children's Safe Water Project, which provides clean water to thousands of families in the Dominican Republic.
- Jim Fulgham, a member of the Rotary Club of Arlington, Texas who partnered with local colleges and universities to raise US$1 million to provide scholarships to sixth grade students from disadvantaged families who finish high school and enroll into college.

- Noelle Galperin, a member of the Rotary Club of Coral Gables, Florida who initiated her club's Haiti recovery efforts in the aftermath of the devastating 2010 earthquake and helped raise more than $325,000 for polio eradication.
- Anil Garg, a member of the Rotary Club of Simi Valley, California. Garg has led multiple National Immunization Days in India and is a strong advocate for adult literacy.
- Richard J. Kemme, a member of the Rotary Club of Greeley, Colorado who uses his background in orthopedic surgery to train surgeons in Malawi.
