Bottom Line: What is Rotary
Services Connections?

Answer: As the world grows increasingly interdependent and Rotary's reach expands, Rotarians are inspired to employ varying resources to undertake and strengthen international collaboration. In a grassroots organization of over 34,000 clubs worldwide, opportunities to establish friendships across borders, enhance cross-cultural understanding, and unite in international endeavors are bountiful.

Clubs should explore Rotary Service
Connections resources to form new friendships, connect with project partners, and establish long-term partnerships in order to make a lasting global impact. Here is a sample of the numerous resources available on Rotary.org:

- Make new friends by traveling across borders and hosting international groups through a Friendship Exchange.
- Support or post a project in need of assistance on ProjectLINK, Rotary's database of active club and district projects seeking support.
- Establish a long-term working relationship with an international club by formalizing a Twin club partnership.

These are just a few examples of Rotary Services Connections. For more information visit www.rotary.org.

Next Week's Question: Where will more than 35,000 Rotarians go May 6-9 2012?
